

Is now the best time for a makeover?

We can't pinpoint the exact reason why, but aesthetic makeovers have become more popular than ever. Whether it's the "Zoom Boom," the influence of social media before-and-afters, or an increased acceptance as a form of self-care, statistics tell us that more people are addressing aesthetic concerns that have been bothering them for a while. From getting the breast surgery you desired in your 20s at age 50, to a full-body refresh after weight loss, more and more people are choosing to finally put themselves first and get the makeovers they've always dreamed of. These stunning transformations performed by top aesthetic doctors not only improved appearances, but also the recipients' self-confidence and overall quality of life.
